

ChenMed Selects Thoughtworks to Build Next Generation Platform for Scale and Growth

August 16, 2023

CHICAGO--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Aug. 16, 2023-- Thoughtworks (NASDAQ: TWKS), a global technology consultancy that integrates strategy, design and engineering, today announced that ChenMed, a leading senior-focused primary care practice operating more than 125 medical centers in 15 states, signed a multi-year agreement to maximize the speed and agility of its core operating system on AWS to support growth.

ChenMed is a privately held, physician-led primary care practice focused on the underserved, moderate-to-low-income seniors with complex chronic diseases. ChenMed operates value-based care medical centers under multiple brands, and is expanding rapidly with centers opening throughout the country. To optimize growth and scale, ChenMed is partnering with Thoughtworks to build development capacity and implement a platform approach to maximize speed and agility.

"Since our founding in 1991, ChenMed has been transforming healthcare for the neediest populations by providing preventive value-based care that positively impacts the wellbeing of our patients, team members and the communities we serve," said Steven May, Chief Digital Officer, ChenMed. "We're transforming the healthcare industry by advancing health equity for everyone - leveraging the power of technology. We're excited to partner with Thoughtworks as we bring access to higher quality care to everyone no matter their zip code or other social determinants of health."

The ChenMed and Thoughtworks engineering teams are working in stream-aligned product teams, utilizing an event-driven microservices architecture and a cloud-native developer experience platform. Together, the teams are re-architecting and streamlining ChenMed's HIS core operating system through a client- and partner-driven lens, taking advantage of agile capabilities and engineering practices such as lean product development, iterative planning and delivery, and continuous integration and delivery.

"ChenMed's proprietary value-based care technology platform has supported hypergrowth and expansion to 100+ medical centers nationwide," said Tim Cochran, head of Digital Scaleups, Thoughtworks North America. "We're thrilled to bring Thoughtworks' scaling capabilities to ChenMed as it continues to innovate with resolute focus on helping healthcare providers deliver the best preventive primary care and value-based health outcomes for their patients."
